Livestock competition held

Bathinda: With the support of the Animal Husbandry Department, Guru Gobind Singh Refinery on Wednesday organised a one-day animal livestock competition at Giana village here. Dr Amrik Singh, senior veterinary officer, was the chief guest at the event. Around 125 cattle traders participated in the competition. While addressing the farmers, he said the improvement of livestock not only improves the production of milk, but also results in increasing the income of farmers. He advised the farmers to get pregnancy vaccination of the animals done only at government veterinary hospitals. TNS
